INTRODUCTION

ABOUT 1000DAY

I'm 1000day (jang suk-woo) and working for Illustrator & Papertoy Artist & Character Designer in the Korea.

FOR 1000DAY, WHAT IS THE WORK?

Art is a language to me. I want to communicate through it.

"Be the first. If you can't be the first, be the Top. Even if you can't be the first and the Top, wait for the opportunity and do your best."

I always do my best, do as much as possible, and hope to have as many conversations.
I will make art as much as i can for as many people as i can for as long as i can.

'Melo Breeze' I gently try to convey a sweet message to people like a breeze.

When I reached out to 1000DAY on Instagram, I never thought that he would be so genuine and kind to me, who at that point was a complete stranger. He created this masterpiece in less than a week and completely blew me away and continues to inspire me in my own work.

Papercraft: Digital Illustration + Papertoy

Papercraft is a collaborative digital media project between Lincoln University students and South Korean papertoy artist Suk Woo Jang (<http://www.behance.net/1000day>)

Marchelo Vera, Assistant Professor of Art has traveled throughout South Korea extensively over the years, bringing back with him to the United States a deep appreciation for the paper culture found in Asia. As an educator teaching digital imaging and printmaking at Lincoln University, he has actively sought out opportunities to better connect his students to a fresh and contemporary art and design perspective. In this first year course, students learn the basics of Adobe Photoshop and Illustrator, desktop printing and digital manipulation throughout a semester.

The collaborative aspect of this project allows students to see the real world nature of a successful art & design studio halfway across the globe. During a midterm critique of their work, students interacted with the artists of 4BD studios in South Korea. Using Skype, students had the opportunity to showcase their work to three artists, encouraging a cultural exchange of aesthetics and design views.

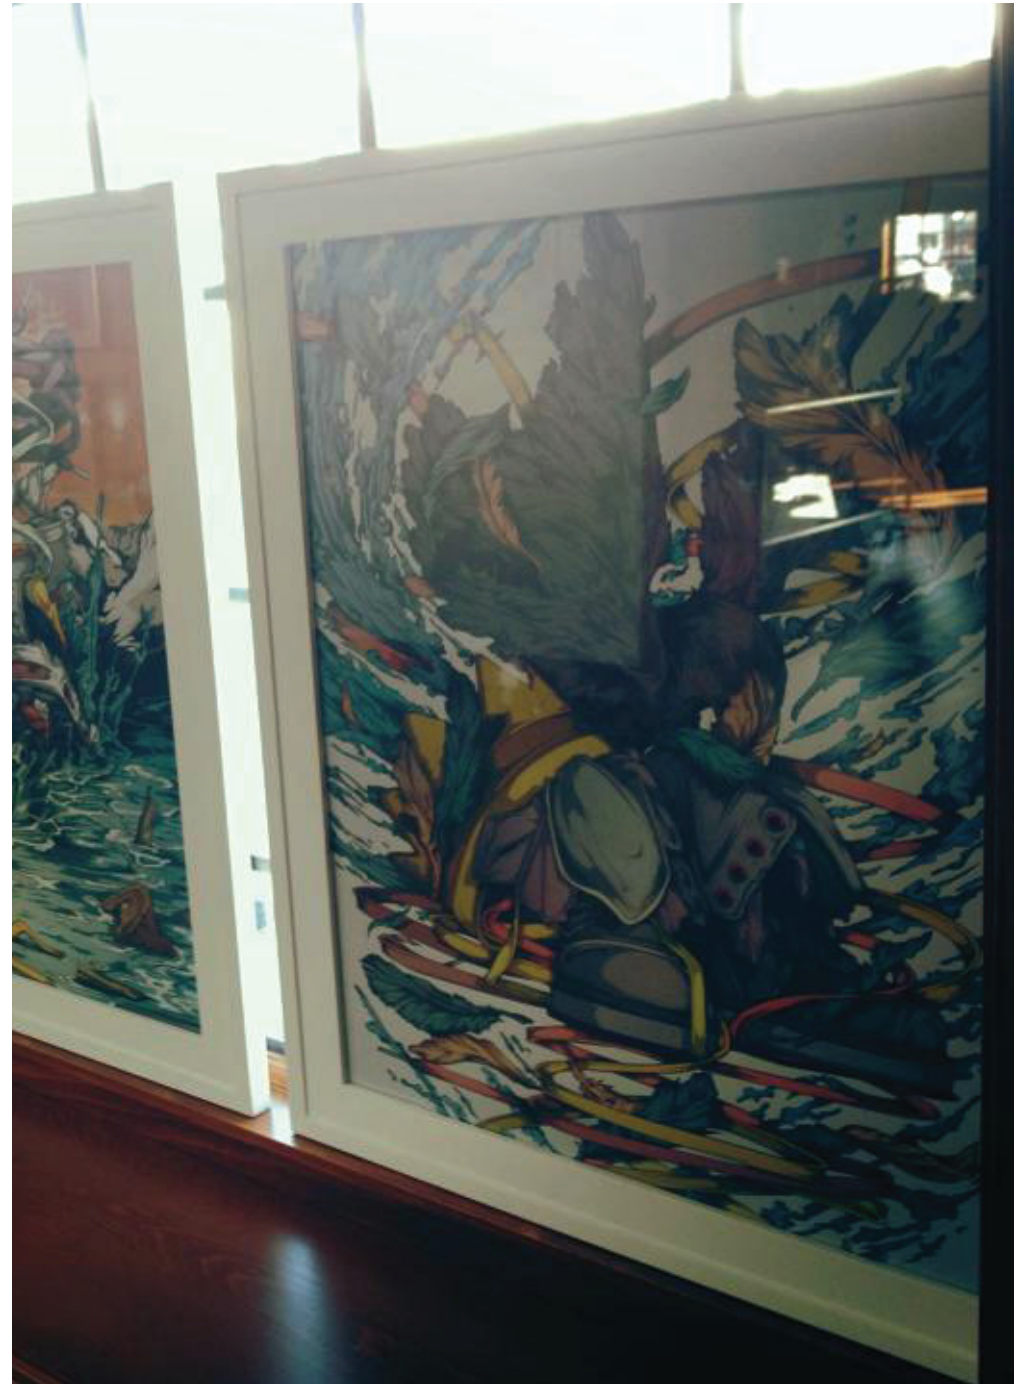

Students begin the project by learning the fundamentals of Adobe Creative Suite programs and follow through by first coming up with concepts for an original pattern/design using pen or pencil. These designs are then worked through and revised until they are ready to be scanned using the computer. At this stage, students recreate their designs digitally and begin the process of making several papertoy models as practice before their final design is completed. •
